Florence | April 2022

I am Andrea Jarach, editor of the Welcome Magazines, periodicals that we have been publishing for 12 years for international visitors in some of the most important cities for tourism in Italy.
From this month we are adding Verona to the traditional editions of Milan, Venice, Florence and Turin. We wanted to make an act of faith in the solidity of Italy's tourist attractions. After the storm comes the calm. Welcome Magazine is here to accompany visitors in their discovery of Italy's attractions.
As you can see in the following pages, the Welcome Magazine offers useful information about events, shopping, food and wine, everything that can interest the visitor answering the question: "what can I do, what can I discover during my stay?".
Our aim is to create memorable experiences of the visit, also by linking together the different opportunities offered by the area.
Our mission is to provide essential tourist information for the benefit of visitors who choose wonderful Italy as their destination.
You will find the Welcome Magazines in the approximately 500 hotels belonging to the Welcome Magazine circuit in Italy.
You can therefore use the traditional paper editions, but don't miss the chance to browse through the pages of the digital and interactive editions also on your computers and smartphones.
As always, you will also be able to access tourist information through our website www.welcomemagazine.it, which is always up-to-date and full of ideas for your trip.
Welcome to Italy, discover and enjoy!

The large Piazza Santa Croce is one of the main squares of the historic centre of Florence and over time it has become one of the nerve centres of Florentine cultural and commercial life. It has long been the theatre for the city's festivals, meetings and celebrations, and in the 15th century it hosted jousts and tournaments on horseback.

Facing onto it are the splendid Basilica of Santa Croce and a number of prestigious residences, including Palazzo Cocchi Serristori and Palazzo dell'Antella.

Completed in 1320, the Franciscan church quickly became the sacred place that noble and illustrious Florentines yearned to have as their final resting place: Dante Alighieri, Galileo Galilei, Michelangelo Buonarroti, Niccolò Macchiavelli, Ugo Foscolo and Vittorio Alfieri, to mention just a few.

Don't miss a visit to the Bell Tower, the Sacristy with the famous Crucifix of Cimabue and the Medici Chapel, the Cloisters, the Pazzi Chapel, the Museum and the Basement (www.santacroceopera.it).

Since the end of the 15th century, the matches of Calcio Storico Fiorentino have been held in the square and a marble circle has been placed on both Palazzo dell'Antella and the building opposite to indicate the half-way line of the pitch.

On 14 May 1865, on the occasion of the fifth centenary of poet Dante Alighieri's birth, a monument dedicated to him was positioned in the centre of the square, but the monument has been removed and moved to its current position on the parvis of the church to enable the Calcio in Costume matches to take place.

PALAZZO PITTI MUSEUMS

A RENAISSANCE MASTERPIECE

PH © ROBMENTING / SHUTTERSTOCK.COM

A palace for three dynasties, this extraordinary building is located in the Oltrarno, at the foot of Boboli Hill. The famous Boboli Gardens, which are the park of the palace, a genuine open-air museum, take their name from this hill. Palazzo Pitti currently contains four different museums.

Treasures of the Grand Dukes (ground floor and mezzanine)
Conserved in what were the summer apartments of the Medici family are the precious "Treasures of the Medici": vases made of semi-precious stones, rock crystals, ambers and ivories, the exceptional collection of Oriental porcelains; there is also the silverware of the so-called "Treasure of Salzburg", an important collection of jewels created between the 17th and 20th centuries, and a significant section dedicated to contemporary jewellery.

Palatine Gallery and Monumental Apartments (noble floor)
The 14 sumptuously furnished rooms of the Royal Apartments offer a fascinating blend of styles. The "Quadreria", the Picture Gallery, established between the 18th and 19th centuries by the Lorena family, includes the world's largest concentration of works by Raphael, as well as paintings by Titian, Tintoretto, Caravaggio and Rubens.

Gallery of Modern Art (second floor)
It houses masterpieces from Neoclassicism to the 1930s, with an important group of paintings by the Macchiaioli school.

Museum of Fashion and Costume (Palazzina della Meridiana)
This museum possesses a stock of six thousand items, including ancient clothing, theatrical costumes and fashion accessories from the 18th century to today, in addition to underwear, jewels and costume jewellery. Included among the costumes are the 16th-century burial clothes of Cosimo I de' Medici, Eleonor of Toledo and their son.

All about Ponte Vecchio

INDEX

Ponte Vecchio

© PANI GARMYDER/SHUTTERSTOCK.COM

Vasari Corridor

© FEDERICO MAGONI/SHUTTERSTOCK.COM

It is one of the undisputed symbols of Florence and, as such, is one of the most photographed sites in the world. Here are some details so you can get to know it better.

First of all, it must be said that Ponte Vecchio (literally "Old Bridge") is indeed "old". The first to identify a ford in the Arno were the Etruscans. The Roman founders of the village of "Florentia" built a wood and stone bridge there, which dates back to around 1345. Since then, with all the various restorations and modifications, this passage across the Arno has remained in its place, actively participating in the history of the city.

ORIGINAL ARCHITECTURE

The bridge is characterised by a solution with lowered arches, never previously seen, which makes its profile unmistakable. From the very beginning, it was understood to be a natural continuation of the road, and so it has shops and porticos along both sides, each with a shop window closed by strong wooden doors, and often with a picturesque backroom protruding over the river.

© STEFY MORELLI/SHUTTERSTOCK.COM

Grafted onto the high part of the bridge is the Vasari Corridor, the strategic passageway that was built at the wishes of Cosimo I in 1565 to connect the administrative buildings to his private residence, without exposing the sovereign to any danger.

A UNIQUE HISTORY

During the Renaissance, the traditional shops of greengrocers, butchers and fishmongers, who had a preference for the bridge on account of the ease with which they could throw their waste into the river, were evicted en bloc: it was preferred to offer the sovereign goldsmiths' and jewellers' shops, which were more appropriate for his gaze (and his nose), and they have continued their presence there ever since for the pleasure of tourists. Considering it a source of great pride, Mussolini invited Hitler there in 1938, opening up new larger, more panoramic windows for his benefit. One rather romanticised version claims that Hitler himself, cherishing the memory of such beauty, would decide to save the bridge from the terrible bombing campaigns of 1944. Unfortunately, the historical reconstruction seems to prove that this merit cannot be ascribed to the German dictator.

LUXURY SHOPPING

For more than four hundred years, Ponte Vecchio has therefore been inhabited by artisans creating admirable gold and silver objects. Still today, this remains the commercial vocation of the neighbourhood, which is nevertheless not lacking in other luxury trades, starting with artisan leather goods. Obviously, the accesses and areas surrounding the Bridge, between via Por Santa Maria and Lungarno degli Archibusieri on one side, and between Borgo San Jacopo and via de' Guicciardini on the other, are also swarming with points of interest and high-quality shops. Bear in mind, however, that sometimes you need only turn into an unknown alley to get away from the bustling crowds and enjoy a carefree stroll.

UNDER THE BRIDGE

Finally, you should know that there is also life under the bridge: the historic Società Canottieri Firenze, as well as bringing together sporting rowers, is a point of reference for the activities that take place on the banks of the river. Today, the Circle also offers a stupendous location for aperitifs, lunches and dinners.

CELEBRATING DONATELLO

EXHIBITION Coming this spring to Florence, this exhibition dedicated to Donatello aims to reconstruct the extraordinary career of one of the most important and influential masters of Italian art of all time, also comparing it with masterpieces by artists such as Brunelleschi, Masaccio, Andrea Mantegna, Giovanni Bellini, Raphael and Michelangelo. The project was conceived as a celebration of Donatello in dialogue with museums, collections and institutions in Florence and throughout Italy, as well as through fundamental international collaborations, broadening the reflection on the materials, techniques and genres of his universe.

>> In the following months the exhibition will move to the Skulpturensammlung und Museum für Byzantinische Kunst in Berlin (autumn 2022) and the Victoria & Albert Museum in London (spring 2023).

EASTER FIREWORKS

EVENT The "Scoppio del Carro", also known as the "Explosion of the Cart", is a Florentine folk tradition repeated every Easter Sunday. Dating back over 350 years, this event celebrates Easter with a unique and memorable procession. An elaborate cart that stands between two and three stories high is pulled by oxen from the Baptistry to the Duomo, accompanied by drummers, flags, and people in historical outfits. In the Duomo, the Archbishop lights a dove-shaped rocket called the "Colombina", representing the Holy Spirit, which then follows a wire outside the cathedral and strikes the cart. This sets off a firework display in the square that is met by the crowds' cheers. If the ritual occurs smoothly, it is considered good luck for the city, its citizens, and its harvest in the coming year.

NEWS FROM THE "DAVID" MUSEUM

COLLECTION A new layout has marked the reopening of the Galleria dell'Accademia in recent weeks: from the Gipsoteca to the Sala del Colosso, from the Sale Bizantine to the Dipartimento degli Strumenti Musicali. Six hundred works have found a new location in the museum with the largest number of Michelangelo's sculptures in the world, in particular the ones placed along a path that accompanies the visitor to Michelangelo's "David". Work will continue in the coming months to make the vast Florentine collection of masterpieces of painting, sculpture and musical instruments even more attractive.

Brandimarte, on a silver platter

At this historic Florentine silverware brand you can purchase engravings, glasses, decanters, and jewellery creations.

>> Brandimarte
Via del Moro, 92/r.
T: 055 2693384.

In the heart of the historic centre of Florence, there is a special boutique: the workshop of Brandimarte, a company that was established in Florence in 1955 and that was run by the founder's grandchildren, Stefano and Giada Guscelli. Since 2017 the brand is owned by Bianca Guscelli, Stefano's daughter.
Brandimarte is distinguished for the hand crafting and sale of silverware for the table and 925 sterling silver jewellery, in addition to its collection of historical silver medals. The collections of jewels, exclusively made in Italy, created by the best Florentine artisans, include bracelets, rings, necklaces, earrings and much more besides.

ANGELA CAPUTI GIUGGIÙ

In the centre of Florence, in an old 17th-century building known as "Palazzetto Medici", a few steps from the Ponte Vecchio, are the boutique and the creative heart of Florentine designer Angela Caputi's brand Giuggiù. Her imaginative plastic jewellery items, much loved by international customers, are genuinely unique pieces of fine craftsmanship. In the Borgo SS. Apostoli boutique it is also possible to purchase a selection of clothing items and accessories that complete the brand's collections.

The entire Ferragamo universe

Florentine brand that has known how to combine age-old hand crafting skills with the creativity, today Salvatore Ferragamo represents quality, contemporary elegance, innovation and tradition. The boutique, which contains all the men's, women's, accessories and perfume collections, is located inside the medieval Palazzo Spini Feroni, the company's historic workshop since 1938, and today also the site of the Salvatore Ferragamo Museum. The boutique occupies the entire ground floor of the building, inside large spaces decorated with 18th-century frescoes, stretching from Piazza Santa Trinita to the banks of the River Arno. And it is precisely the wing of the store that faces onto Piazza Santa Trinita that hosts the Ferragamo's Creations corner, with the exclusive footwear line that revisits some of the brand's iconic.

From California to Florence

The footwear, clothing and accessories of the UGG® brand, founded in 1978 by an Australian surfer on the coast of California, which has become an icon of style thanks to its leather and reversed sheepskin boots, find space in the brand's first Italian boutique. Inside, the more traditional models stand alongside new footwear from the Classic Revolution collection, which reinterprets classicism with a contemporary touch, inspired by the vitality of San Francisco. Drawing inspiration from Classic Short II, Classic Mini II and Neumel models by the brand, the collection includes thirteen renovated models. Stylistic research with the use of new materials, decorative elements such as straps and zippers and the addition of wedges are combined with an in-depth study of comfort. In addition to footwear, lovers of shopping can also find a selection of outerwear and accessories. www.ugg.com

VIA DE'TORNABUONI: LUXURY SHOPPING

Together with Via della Vigna Nuova, Via de'Tornabuoni is believed to be the most famous shopping area in the city, containing many top designer fashion brands. This district, which is the medieval heart of the city, has been associated with luxury shopping since the 19th century. The historical buildings have been renovated into modern stores housing famous brands like Gucci, Salvatore Ferragamo, Bulgari, Burberry, Damiani, Dolce & Gabbana, Giorgio Armani, Loro Piana, Montblanc, Pomellato, Prada, Saint Laurent, Stefano Ricci, Valentino, Tod's, Hogan, Emilio Pucci and many others.

VIA DEL PARIONE: THE ARTISANAL HEART OF THE CITY

A street celebrating Florence's artisanal shopping opportunities, revealing artisanal stores and modern boutiques that offer one-of-a-kind goods. This area houses Il Bisonte, a Florentine brand of unique high-quality Italian leather items and Anichini, a traditional tailor's shop for children where skilled artisans create elegant items for newborns, children and youngsters using the best Italian fabrics. Don't miss the Antica Legatoria Alberto Cozzi, a store filled with the arts of bookbinding, personalizing original leather goods, and embellishing paper through the rare process of marbling.

PONTE VECCHIO, LUXURY SHOPPING OVER THE BRIDGE

Ponte Vecchio is a passageway over the Arno River that is devoted to shopping for gold and jewellery. The jewellery shops have a long history. Back in 1563, Grand Duke Ferdinand I ordered local goldsmiths to set up shop along the bridge, in order to replace the butchers' and grocers' shops that had been established there for centuries. The latter threw garbage and scraps from their shops into the Arno and this damaged the image of the city. After four hundred years, this is still the commercial vocation of the district, which nonetheless does not lack other luxury trades, starting with handmade leather goods. Particular attention should be paid to the Cassetti 1926 boutique, whose first shop on the Ponte Vecchio dates back to 1976 and whose second was opened in 1981. This was followed by the Rolex Boutique in 2009 and the Vacheron Constantin one (2014) which, with its watchmaking history of almost 260 years, adds further value to the range of luxury goods by the Cassetti brand.

SAN LORENZO MARKET

The market of San Lorenzo is a not-to-be-missed experience in Florence. The indoor section, called Mercato Centrale, is a gourmet heaven that offers an endless selection of international foods in a 19th-century building. Shop for groceries or spend time tasting all the food in the eating area. The market also has an outdoor area that stretches across multiple streets surrounding Mercato Centrale, consisting of hundreds of vendors that give you the opportunity to buy authentic souvenirs.

OLTRARNO, ITALIAN TRADITION AT THE TOP

In the districts of the Oltrarno - San Frediano, Santo Spirito and San Niccolò - you breathe the air of a more authentic "Florentine-ness". In this labyrinth of lanes and alleyways you can still find craftsmen and women who conserve and hand down original and sophisticated working methods. Once considered among the most infamous neighbourhoods in the city, today San Frediano has become fashionable, also thanks to the famous Lonely Planet guide, which defined it as "the coolest neighbourhood in the world". In particular, Borgo San Frediano has become renowned both for its traditional artisan shops and historical monuments. Don't miss the legendary art form with a visit to the Officina Profumo-Farmaceutica di Santa Maria Novella, a 600-year-old perfumery located in a breathtaking antique structure. Still using ancient recipes to make modern-day perfumes and skincare goods, its products have been famous for centuries.

ARTISANS IN OLTRARNO

From a recent census, it seems that there are around 800 artisans' workshops in the Oltrarno. If you have a weakness for shoes, you are in the right place, because this zone is the very place where you can see craftsmen busy at work on made-to-measure shoes, such as those of Roberto Ugolini (see photo). Do you love the unmistakable aroma of paper? Then you will not be able to resist going into one of the marbled paper and bookbinding artisan shops in the Oltrarno, such as Il Torchio. But this zone is also swarming with goldsmiths' workshops: for example, drop in at Ugo Bellini. And what can you say about the Antico Setificio Fiorentino, one of the very few silk production workshops left in Europe? Since 1786 they have been spinning precious silk fabrics, today used above all by the houses of haute couture and by architects to furnish residences and boats.

SANT'AMBROGIO, THE PICTURESQUE DISTRICT OF FLORENCE

Sant'Ambrogio is a lesser-known area filled with stores and restaurants, featuring the beauty of Florence without plentiful crowds. Shop for fresh ingredients in the Mercato di Sant'Ambrogio, a historic indoor market that has offered produce and specialty foods since 1873. For antiques and crafts, stroll through the Ciompi Antiquarito in Piazza Annigoni. Open daily, this market offers vintage items such as jewelry, prints, and books. If you love leather accessories then you must not miss Cuore di pelle where you can buy all items made of handsewn leather (www.cuordipelle.com). In Via De' Macci, you must not miss Cecilia Falciai, who specialises in working scagliola and in the technique of Florentine mosaic-making (commesso) using semi-precious stones and marble (www.ceciliafalciaiscagliola.com). In Via Sant'Egidio, the historic shop Sbigoli Terrecotte offers a vast range of artistic ceramics (www. sbigoliterrecotte.it).

VIA PORTA ROSSA AND PIAZZA DELLA REPUBBLICA

In the heart of Florence, the network of streets between Via Porta Rossa and Piazza della Repubblica form a paradise for shoppers. Browse through countless luxury stores and marvel at window displays in Via Porta Rossa to find the perfect Florentine souvenir. Don't miss Rinascente, a department store in Piazza della Repubblica that sells the best brands and artisan products in the city, even offering a terrace with a breathtaking panoramic view of the city.

BORGO SS. APOSTOLI

Borgo SS. Apostoli is a road tucked between Ponte Vecchio and Ponte Santa Trinita, a quiet haven in the center of the bustling city. The street contains historic buildings and numerous antique stores that embody Florentine artisanship. Find historic stones, artwork, and leather goods in the traditional stores that line the peaceful road.

BORGO OGNISSANTI, TOP OF ANTIQUES

The street of Borgo Ognissanti runs parallel to the Arno River and is located nearby the Duomo. Considered the "path of opportunity," this area is filled with stores whose products range from flowers to pastries to hardware tools. Discover showrooms that span from antique to contemporary as well as interior design stores. Walk through Piazza Ognissanti, the site of the annual antique fair where global dealers meet to display their traditional paintings and furniture.

Tax Free Refund Guide

According to the Italian law, non-EU resident travellers may be granted VAT relief/refund for goods intended for personal or family use purchased in Italy. This relief is surely an advantage for the foreign travellers: in fact, it allows to save from a minimum of 4% up to a maximum of 22% of the selling price of the goods purchased. Here is a short guide according to the Italian legislation to discover the common system of value added tax exclusively for non-EU resident travellers.

1. VAT (in Italian: IVA) is a value added tax on goods and services, and is part of the European Union's value added tax system.

2. In some cases, travellers may be granted a VAT refund. This refund does not cover the services supplied by hotels, restaurants, taxis or agencies.

3. You may be eligible for a VAT refund provided that:

- you are a non-EU resident;
- the goods purchased are intended for personal or family use only and are carried in your luggage;
- the overall value of the goods purchased exceeds 154,94 Euro (VAT included);
- the purchase is certified by an invoice. This invoice should include a description of the goods purchased, your personal information as well as the details of your passport or any other equivalent document;
- the goods shall leave the EU territory by the third month following the date of issue of the invoice, as proved by the "customs stamp";
- from 1 September 2018, tax free invoices in Italy must be electronically transmitted by the national seller to OTELLO information system (Online Tax Refund at Exit: Light Lane Optimization) and their validation is digitally carried out.
- after the digital "customs stamp" is obtained, OTELLO will send a message to the retailer that all the requirements are met and, as a consequence, the retailer will reimburse the amount due or will settle the tax relief.

Tax Free Refund Guide

- the invoice is returned to the Italian retailer within four months after the purchase was made. If the invoice is stamped by other EU countries, it needs to be brought to the shop retailer by the fourth month following that of the purchase.

4. The goods purchased and the relevant invoice must be shown at the customs exit point when leaving EU territory (if you intend to pack the purchased items into your check-in luggage, you must go to Customs BEFORE checking in).

5. After leaving EU territory, the traveller must return the original invoice, regularly endorsed by the customs office, to the Italian retailer. Said invoice must be returned within four months from the date when the document was issued.

6. The refund can be made directly by the Italian retailer (however, make sure that the shop you've chosen displays a "Tax Free Shopping" or "Euro Tax Free" sign in its window).

7. Several Tax-Free companies are able to offer immediate VAT cash refunds when the goods leave either Italian or EU territory (thus exonerating the passenger from having to return the invoice to the retailer). However, this procedure only applies at major international airports or main border crossings. Most major department stores have Tax Free Refund offices.

8. The services provided by Tax-Free companies imply the payment of a small administrative sum which is directly deducted from the amount of VAT refunded to the traveller.

9. In the event of a traveller not receiving a VAT refund within a reasonable period of time, he or she should re-contact the Italian retailer or one of the aforementioned companies.

10. However, please note, VAT cannot be refunded directly by customs offices.

Genuine food for all tastes at the Central Market

Where is it possible to taste Sicilian specialities, vegan dishes, Chianina hamburgers, sushi, fresh pasta, dishes from the Tuscan tradition such as tripe and lamprey, high-quality meats, pizzas, fried food specials and artisan ice-creams, all under one roof? At the Central Market, a temple of taste located right in the city centre and housed on the first floor of the historic covered market of San Lorenzo. In this sort of modern agora for gourmets, you can also take a seat at the large convivial tables and enjoy one of the many specialities that are prepared there on the spot. In a territory such as that of Florence, which is famous for the genuineness and quality of its dishes, the aim has been to protect consumers to the maximum: all the operators at the Central Market in fact sign a quality specification whereby all the dishes prepared inside the market are cooked using only the raw materials on sale at the market itself. www.mercatocentrale.it

>> INSIDER TIPS

• Breakfast time in Italy can be from 6am to 11am, depending on what time you got up, and it usually includes a cappuccino, which is a morning drink, and "cornetto" or other sweet pastries.
• Lunchtime usually ranges from midday to 2pm (that is why many of the shops of the shops close in these hours), dinnertime from 8pm to 10pm.
• Between 6pm and 9pm it's aperitivo time, an Italian tradition started in Florence. If you're feeling hungry between 3pm and 5pm then it's time for you to have a "merenda", a quick snack between the two main meals. Should you be hungry at late night, you can check several list of late-night restaurants in Florence.
• Never forget to check the restaurant's weekly closing day, which – most of the time – will be Monday.
• Reservations for most restaurants are strongly advised.
• In Italy, service is included in the price meaning that although tipping is not compulsory but it is obviously appreciated as a sign of satisfaction.
• Some menus include the word "coperto", a small surcharge corresponding to the cost of the service and bread (usually between 1 and 3 euros per person).
• If you want tap water, you should specify it to the waiting staff of the restaurant or bar, asking for a glass of "acqua di rubinetto".
• Although no dress code exists in Italy, semiformal clothing is usually considered de rigeur at restaurants.
• All restaurants and bars are non-smoking unless a separate smokers' area is specifically offered.

2022 MICHELIN-STARRED RESTAURANTS

In addition to the historic and well established Enoteca Pinchiorri, with its prestigious three Michelin stars, there are six other Florentine restaurants that have been awarded one star.

Enoteca Pinchiorri

Santa Elisabetta

Enoteca Pinchiorri ❀❀❀

Via Ghibellina, 87. T: 055 242757

enotecapinchiorri.it

How do you manage to be honoured with three Michelin stars, the highest recognition, which is only achieved by a hundred restaurants worldwide? In the case of the Enoteca Pinchiorri, it comes from the winning combination of prime quality raw materials, the search for innovation, yet without forgetting the territory's (great) culinary tradition, obsessive attention to every detail and an unrivalled wine menu, which includes highly prized labels, along with others that are little known but equally interesting. Then we can add the fact that the restaurant is located inside the 18th-century Palazzo Jacometti-Ciofi and that its desserts are a delight for the senses.

www.ristorantesantaelisabetta.it
In the heart of the historical centre of Florence, a unique location, the Byzantine Pagliazza Tower: built around 541-544 AD, today it is part of the register of historical Florentine buildings. Santa Elisabetta is on the first floor of the tower, with a particular circular shape, in an intimate atmosphere that only houses seven tables. Its menu respects nature and the seasons. The Chef chooses to experiment with minimalism, on dishes with a single product that is the protagonist and two or three others that act as a support. Each dish is characterized by the contrasts between acidity and sweetness, cooked and raw, sapidity and lightness.

Borgo San Jacopo c/o Hotel Lungarno Borgo
San Jacopo, 62/r. T: 055 281661
www.borgosanjacopo.com
Overlooking the banks of the Arno, with a picture postcard view of Ponte Vecchio, the restaurant Borgo San Jacopo is perfect for a romantic evening. In this case the winning recipe is one that blends creativity, tradition and quality ingredients (lamb in sea water or Bresse rooster and octopus are an example of this), all washed down with wines chosen from a cellar of 900 labels. You can opt for the tasting menu (the potato-based one is unmissable) or à la carte.

Located inside inside the Gucci Garden, the creative liaison between Gucci and Bottura celebrates two things Italy is renowned for: fashion and fine cuisine. Head of the team is Mexican chef Karime Lopez Kondo. The menu is an explosive blend of flavours ranging from Italy to the Orient and offers cosmopolitan titbits such as the "Taka-ban", the classic Japanese steamed bun with pork belly and spicy sauce, or marinated Adriatic palamita with tortilla or fried aubergines in shiso sauce. In a very intimate setting, the bistro plays around the tones of green and pistachio and can welcome up t o 35 diners indoors.

rear, these are just the cherry on the cake of a creative culinary proposal, which in this case too draws its inspiration from the local tradition, with a propensity for quality meat (the boiled sausages and 'soppressata' are self-produced), but also for vegetables picked directly from the restaurant's own vegetable and herb garden and for the hand-made bread using flour from ancient grains.

Inside the Hotel Four Seasons, in a sophisticated environment with tables both indoors and outdoors, Il Palagio bases itself on a culinary proposal that looks to the Italian and regional tradition with a touch of modernity, as in the terrine of foie gras with Vin Santo gelée or cheese and pepper cavatelli with red shrimps and baby squid. Chef Vito Mollica offers a menu that is a symphony of flavours, raw materials and colours, at times venturing far beyond the confines of Tuscany with dishes based on truffle, wagyu beef or three kinds of caviar. The wine menu includes more than 400 labels, 50 of which also served by the glass.

FLORENTINE FOOD TERMS

Florence has a multitude of culinary specialities of peasant origin that are still very popular in the city today. Some are so niche as to be unknown outside Florence. So we've decided to put together a glossary of Florentine food terms to help you find your way...

Buca Mario

BISTECCA ALLA FIORENTINA

This is one of the most iconic dishes in Florence cuisine. The succulent steak is obtained from a specific cut of a young Chianina cow, a part of the loin near the backbone which has a T-bone in the middle. It should be grilled at a very high temperature, so that a fine crust forms rapidly on the meat. All the flavour of this dish depends on the cooking: the meat must be brown on the outside but red, soft and juicy on the inside, hot, but not cooked through. It should also be at least 3 or 4 cms thick, and weigh between 1.2 kg and 1.5 kgs. At a restaurant you pay for a fiorentina by weight: an average price to be sure of getting the real thing is around 50 euros a kilo.

CANTUCCI

This is one of the best-known cake recipes in Tuscan cuisine. The finger-shaped almond biscuits are made by slicing up a long roll of baked dough while still hot. The dough is made with flour, sugar, eggs, butter and raw almonds, not toasted or shelled. Tuscans normally dunk their 'cantucci' in a fortified local wine called Vin Santo made from dried grapes. You can find them in any bakery or local foods shop.

CIBREO

A dish for strong stomachs, Cibreo is a typical main course of Florentine "poor cuisine" containing liver, chicken hearts, crests, eggs, lemon juice and onion. Even though presented like that it seems to be an inauspicious mixture, it is famous for having been one of the favourite dishes of Caterina de' Medici, who attempted - unsuccessfully - to export it to France and it seems she was so fond of it that it gave her indigestion a number of times.

LAMPREDOTTO

This is Florentine street food par excellence. But watch out, it's not for weak stomachs. Actually it's a cow's fourth stomach, known as the 'abomaso', cooked in a herb broth and most commonly served in a panino soaked in the broth or topped with the local parsley-based green sauce. Historically a poor man's dish, it is still very popular in Florence today thanks to the numerous open-air kiosks known as "lampredottai", doing a roaring trade with Florentines as well as tourists who can't wait to try this speciality, accompanied by the obligatory glass of wine.

PAPPA COL POMODORO

On the face of it this is just another variant of bread and tomatoes. But until you've tried this soup made of stale bread (unsalted), tomatoes, garlic, basil, extra virgin Tuscan olive oil, salt and pepper, you'll never guess how good it is. Everyone loves this tasty, genuine dish, including the kids. So much so there's even a popular children's song all about it.

Lampredotto

RIBOLLITA

Another delicious country dish typical of Florence and the whole of central Tuscany is ribollita, a soup made of stale bread, kale and beans (borlotti, toscanelli or cannellini). 'Ribollita' literally means boiled several times. The name derives from the fact that in the old days peasants used to make a large pot and serve it, heated up, over a number of days, each time tastier than before.

SCHIACCIATA

This simple focaccia baked in a wood oven and dressed with olive oil and salt is a great favourite with Florentines, who eat it on its own or stuffed with salumi and cheeses, either as a quick lunch or substantial snack. Again, like many traditional Florentine recipes, it is based on a horror of wasting any left over bread dough. In Florence you'll find it at any baker's, but of course everyone has their own preference: soft and well oiled, crisp and salty, or made with ancient grains. Just try it to decide which is your favourite!

HISTORIC CELLARS FOR FOODIES

Florence's cantine, where in the past the well to do kept their wine, salumi and meats, haven't lost their vocation as custodians of fine taste. The majority are still called "buca", although some have become proper restaurants, while others still offer authentic Florentine home cooking.

Antica Mescita San Niccolò

Ever wanted to eat lunch in a 1000 AD Romanesque crypt? In Florence you can, at the Antica Mescita San Niccolò, which also used to serve as a customs post for wine originating from Chianti. Naturally, the wine is excellent and predominately Tuscan and the food also reflects the season and the local territory, with dishes such as cold cuts and mixed cheeses, ribollita, bistecca alla fiorentina and lampredotto, to name just a few.

Buca Lapi

Buca Lapi
Buca Lapi is one of Florence's oldest eating places. Crafted out of the wine cellars of the Renaissance Palazzo Antinori, it still preserves traces of over a century of history thanks to the meticulous restoration of the internal frescoes. Buca Lapi is particularly popular with lovers of the real fiorentina, but the other local Tuscan dishes are worth trying too, such as croutons, ribollita or wild boar with polenta. The bill won't be particularly easy on the pocket, especially if you go for the steak, but as we know quality doesn't come cheap. www.bucalapi.com. Via del Trebbio 1/r. T: 055 213768.

Buca Mario
For years ordinary folk have rubbed shoulders with famous names beneath the bare brick ceilings of Buca Mario to enjoy simple, genuine Florentine cuisine (although you can still request a private room for up to ten people in classic 16th-century Florentine style). The bistecca alla fiorentina is excellent, as is the ribollita or pappardelle with Maremma boar ragù.

Buca Poldo
A few yards from Piazza della Signoria and Ponte Vecchio, Buca Poldo serves characteristic Tuscan dishes including ribollita, pappa al pomodoro, fiorentina and boar stew, as well as a few forays into other regional cuisines. Although the majority of the courses are meat based, some fish dishes are also available. The kitchen is open on two sides, so that diners can watch the chefs at work.

Buca San Giovanni
Buca San Giovanni is another of Italy's historic restaurants. Originally the sacristy of the nearby Baptistery of Saint John opposite Florence cathedral, it was also the Rosicrucian masons' secret initiation venue and countless notables from Florence and elsewhere have enjoyed a meal under its ancient vaults. There is no lack of classic dishes such as ossobuco alla Fiorentina (oxtail) and stracotto al Chianti (beef braised in Chianti), but the cuisine also stretches to other Italian regional specialities, such as bucatini all'amatriciana, spaghetti alla carbonara or linguine al pesto.

Buca dell'Orafo

Fiaschetteria Nuvoli
Just a few steps from Piazza Duomo is an obligatory destination for anyone who has ever wondered what Florence's old wine cellars were really like in the past. Open from 8.30 in the morning until evening, it serves typical Tuscan specialities such as chicken liver croutons, cold cuts, tagliatelle al ragù, fried chicken or brains, ribollita, pappa col pomodoro and roast porchetta. There is also a vast choice of Tuscan wines, also available for aperitifs.
Piazza dell'Olio, 15/r. T: 055 239 6616.

Ristorante Buca dell'Orafo
A few yards from Ponte Vecchio, in an old goldsmith's workshop inside the walls of a 13th century palace, is the restaurant Buca dell'Orafo. Traditional Tuscan dishes and menus that vary depending on the season testify to the quality of the ingredients. Don't miss the ribollita, the maltagliati (flat, irregular offcuts of pasta), autumn mushrooms and taglierini with fresh spring peas.

ITINERARIES

Amid faith, art and history

Universally recognised as one of the locations symbolising the city, the Baptistery of San Giovanni is one of the oldest places of worship in Florence.

Located opposite the complex of Santa Maria del Fiore, the Baptistery owes part of its renown to its octagonal plan structure surmounted by a pyramidal dome and the richly decorated interior of great Renaissance artists. The exterior is famous for its three bronze doors: the South Door, by Andrea Pisano, dating back to 1330, illustrates the life of Saint John the Baptist in 28 inlaid panels, the North Door, by Lorenzo Ghiberti, imagines the life and passion of Christ through 20 panels, and with a further eight, the four evangelists and four "fathers of the church", while the East Door, (or "Porta del Paradiso") consists of ten gilded panels representing scenes from the Old Testament.

SANTO SPIRITO

Together with Santa Croce, San Lorenzo and Santa Maria Novella, it is one of the "great basilicas", a point of reference of the Augustinian order. The church has given its name to the entire surrounding neighbourhood, "Borgo Santo Spirito".
A jewel of Renaissance architecture, the church was the last great project by Filippo Brunelleschi.

SAN LORENZO

Together with Santa Croce, Santo Spirito and Santa Maria Novella, it is one of the "great basilicas", founded by Saint Ambrose, in the 4th century AD. Its current appearance, however, is the result of the last major reconstruction work that took place in the 15th century at the wishes of the Medici and under the direction of the great architect Filippo Brunelleschi.

MERCATO CENTRALE

Built at the end of the 19th century, the Central Market is a building of a certain architectural merit. The project was entrusted to Giuseppe Mengoni, the architect of the Galleria Vittorio Emanuele in Milan, who was inspired by Les Halles in Paris. Today, a point of reference for informal but good quality cuisine for both Florentines and tourists.

MUSEO NOVECENTO

Dedicated to the Italian art of the 20th century, it offers a selection of around 300 works representing that unrepeatable artistic season that saw Florence at the centre of the international cultural scene. The immersive museum itinerary includes multimedia workstations, sound devices and video rooms along with the works themselves.

PALAZZO MEDICI RICCARDI

Four centuries of the history of art, architecture and collections in a single building, one of the most beautiful in Florence; built in the mid-15th century by Michelozzo at the wishes of the Medici, it is the prototype of Renaissance civil architecture. Its jewel is the Magi Chapel, which you enter by climbing the elegant seventeenth-century staircase.

MUSEO DEGLI INNOCENTI

The Museum is located in the ancient Spedale degli Innocenti, a masterpiece of Renaissance architecture designed by Brunelleschi. The museum itinerary combines the documentary and historical-artistic heritage, and hosts precious artworks by Botticelli, Ghirlandaio, Luca and Andrea della Robbia and many more. On the terrace the elegant Caffè del Verone offers beautiful panoramic views.

The museum city

Within its historic centre, Florence contains a unique concentration of historical and artistic attractions. Here is some guidance for you to enjoy it.

The city's period of maximum splendour was undoubtedly the Renaissance, of which countless masterpieces remain. To find your way around the city, it is a good idea to keep well in mind that Florence is developed along the two banks of the River Arno. All the roads that run alongside the river, on both sides, are called "Lungarno" and it is only the second part of the name that changes. The whole area on the other side of the river, to the south, is called "Oltrarno" by the Florentines. It was originally outside the historic centre, but today it contains important attractions, such as Pitti Palace, the Boboli Gardens and Borgo Santo Spirito, the city's most bohemian neighbourhood.
